Welsh, Eugene Kaciak, Izabela Koladkiewicz, Ezra Memili, Lakshmi Iyer, Veland Ramadani Abstract: Researchers have called for more attention to the issues surrounding women entrepreneurs and their businesses that impact their success and the value co-creation it brings to stakeholders. The present research contributes to the literature by providing an insight into the effectiveness of TQM and BN in the process of improving export performances in both emerging and developed economies. For example, we anticipate that, largely for reasons of cost, multiple-methods NAEP would initially only be conducted as part of national NAEP, with the most feasible and informative components carried over to state NAEP administrations on a gradual, selected basis.
