To anyone who knows Sir Ramkrishna Bhandarkar as not only a great Oriental scholar but the outstanding representative in India to-day of the ancient school of bhakti, the fact that these psalms minister nourishment to a spiritual life so beautiful and so sincere is in itself sufficient testimony to their religious value. I accordingly applied to Sir R.

Some have been chosen because they have a place in the regular worship of the devotees, as repeated daily by the V rkaris or adherents of the Pandharpur sect or sung in their bhajans or song services. But it was not easy to make a selection from so immense a body of literature as these poets have produced. We appreciate your understanding of the imperfections in the preservation process, and hope you enjoy this valuable book.
