name: Hunter Jaxer

Career Research Guide Worksheet

Your job title (not specific): School Guidance Counselor

Job overview: What they do (Provide a paragraph description of the job. What would a typical day on the job look like?)

Career counselors do more than just give you advice. They also help you plan for your future and help you get where you want to go. They hand out college brochures and pamphlets and help you decide what classes you would need to take in high school. Guidance counselors really help students in a large amount of ways. They only want to watch and help you succeed in the life you want to live.

Elementary and middle school guidance counselors help students with more of the emotional support they need. High school guidance counselors focus more on the student's academic future but they are also there for emotional support as well.

Working conditions: Where you can expect to work? Risk of injury? Time of day/time of year? Independence? Clothing required? Etc.:

School counselors usually work in a public or a private school. Career counselors work in colleges, government agencies and career centers, and private practices. Both of these types of counselors typically work full time.

Salary (what wage can you expect to earn?):

The best paid made $96,880 per year and the lowest paid earned about $31,320 per year.

Future outlook (will this job be in demand in the future? Why/why not?):

There are some reports that a school counselor's employment will increase by 12% from 2012 to 2022. This is roughly the same as the average for all occupations.

Post-Secondary Institution/Training Program #1:

Following a four-year program, you could obtain a specialized master's degree in school counseling. You will also need Training, Licensing and/or Certification, highly developed listening skills, and both written and oral communication skills, compassionately understanding, and enjoy working with people of all ages from youth to parents and school staff members.

Education and levels of education: Where the school is located. What is the name of the program? Also tell us why this school appeals to you.

USC's Vancouver campus. The BEd Secondary. This is a 12-month post degree program that provides curriculum, instruction, and practical experience with focus on teaching in secondary schools.
