

The man staggers out of the cemetery to a busy street and collapses. When I opened the back door to go out to do the cleansing on the satue four crows were on my porch in a straight row facing out toward the yard all four took off at the same time in flight ... Strange as we have lived here for 3 years and never has the crows come this close that I am aware of they usually hang out in the back or side in the trees that line the wooded areas.
