Translators' Foreword from 'Women Priests in the Catholic Church?' by Haye van der Meer

She points to the great tensions which arise where success, and especially male achievement, are so heavily stressed. But there are also the landscapes we bear with us in absentia, those places that live on in memory long after they have withdrawn in actuality, and such places — retreated to most often when we are most remote from them — are among the most important landscapes we possess. In 1821, a report from the Select Committee on the Existing Laws Relating to Vagrants noted the increasing number of vagrants and observed that the expense of administering the existing laws was significant.

'The Ordination of Women to the Priesthood'. A consultative document presented by the Advisory Council for the Church's Ministry. Published by the Church Information Office, London

The local response invoked Brixton as a place where race hate had no meaning any more, and to some extent that unifying myth was important.

Expression of thanks ACC-16 gives thanks to God for the work of all those who have contributed to this meeting and to the work of the ACC, especially the President, the Most Revd and Rt Hon Justin Welby. Though Denmark accepted the ordination of women in 1947, the position there has been much less discussed in this country than the situation in Sweden. INFORMATION FROM OTHER PROVINCES 234.

Similarly excluded is any which either before, at the moment of, or after , is specifically intended to prevent —whether as an or as a. The fact that a woman cannot be a priest tends to reflect back on other ministerial tasks that she does: this may show itself in uncertainty in the minds of parishioners whether she is in fact really a member of staff, and in the assumption that the junior curate, because in holy orders, is senior to any deaconess or lay worker however experienced. And, if this new unified word of love takes on , shapes it into a - the : the incarnation of the 's and 's of one another and sexual love for one another.

Archbishop of Canterbury Justin Welby

Hotel Management and Staff We thank the Management and Staff of the Taj Pamodzi and the Southern Sun Ridgeway who cared for our physical needs and were most attentive to our welfare. Then in June 2008, Anglican leaders from around the world gathered at the Global Anglican Future conference and, among other decisions, determined that the North American Anglican groups under their care and united in the Common Cause Partnership should form a united Anglican body and seek recognition as a province in the Anglican Communion.
