Strategies to strengthen the provision of mental health care at the primary care setting: An Evidence Map

For example in South Africa, despite a decentralisation model which promotes integration of mental health into primary health care, there is a paucity of community-based mental health resources and the same problems of poor identification and treatment of mental disorders by primary care physicians. Lewin S, Lavis JN, Oxman AD, Bastias G, Chopra M, Ciapponi A, Flottorp S, Marti SG, Pantoja T, Rada G, Souza N, Treweek S, Wiysonge C, Haines A: Supporting the delivery of cost-effective interventions in primary health-care systems in low-income and middle-income countries: an overview of systematic reviews. In particular, it is essential to develop and test approaches that can equip primary care to address the needs of the nearly 40 percent of children and adolescents who experience periods of clinically significant functional impairment related to mental health problems but do not meet diagnostic criteria for specific mental disorders Bernal et al.

Lessons learned in developing community mental health care in North America

Results of the literature search are reported in Fig.

Impact of the COVID

This allows the prescribing health professional and patient to work together to make sure that the right product is supplied to support nicotine and smoking cessation.

Mental Health Services

Substance use disorders and the person-centered healthcare home. Screening for depression in adults in primary care settings: a systematic evidence review. Voluntary sector providers quickly emerged to offer community-based care to the growing number of people with severe mental illness living in the community.

Mental health service shortages putting vulnerable patients at risk, campaigner warns

Though not yet extensive, research also demonstrates the value of integrated primary care services for anxiety Rollman et al. What Policy and Programmatic Actions Are Needed to Ensure the Feasibility of Integrating Mental Health Treatment Into the PCMH? If you just train somebody and leave it at that, it is not going to help. A preponderance of studies also focused on discussing the roles of barriers in help-seeking, but less is known about the facilitators of help-seeking.
