Full text of divine rule of Faith and practice, or, A defence of the Catholic doctrine that Holy Scripture has been, since the times of the Apostles, the sole divine rule of faith and practice to the Church, against the dangerous errors of the authors of the Tracts for the Times and the Romanists, in which also the doctrines of the Apostolical succession, the Eucharistic sacrifice, etc. are fully discussed.

They understand good living, however, very well, are great epicures, and somewhat gourmands, for, after dining on thirty dishes, they will sometimes eat a duck by way of a finish. Xenophanes at Colophon and Elea.

Hugo Grotius, The Rights of War and Peace (1625)

The Constantinian and Athanasian, or the Nicene and Trinitarian age, from 311 to the second general council in 381, distinguished by the conversion of Constantine, the alliance of the empire with the church, and the great Arian and semi-Arian controversy concerning the Divinity of Christ and the Holy Spirit.

The Project Gutenberg EBook of The Social Principles of Jesus by Walter Rauschenbusch

Emlyn had not as yet divulged his abandonment of the prevailing views of the Trinity, which were zealously maintained by his colleague, and doubtless by at least a large majority of his congregation. We may add, that, on whatever minor points they may have differed as in fact it is scarcely possible that those who truly inquire and think for theme selves should be really of one mind on all disputed questions , on one grand and leading principle they were all cordially agreed;—in asserting for themselves, and conceding to others, the inalienable right of private judgment, and in acknowledging the duty incumbent upon all of exercising this right or rather of performing this duty without bias or prejudice, examining the scriptures for themselves, and openly and candidly professing the doctrines which they honestly believed to be inculcated by the word of God, without regard to any creeds or systems of human devising, whether imposed by the civil power, or recommended by the authority of synods and councils. See Acts 15:15-16; Amos 9:11-12.

The knowledge of the thing is different from the thing; the expression of the thought in words is different from the thought itself.

Hugo Grotius, The Rights of War and Peace (1625)

The Result of which is, that those who say he died a Socinian, would be too gently used if they were only told, that they are guilty of a rash Judgment; they are Persons prejudiced against the Character of this Great Man, and therefore very unworthy of our Belief. The Old Testament in Hebrew, as handed down to us by the Jews, and the New Testament in Greek, which every Protestant student of the original uses, and from which our present English version is taken, are acknowledged by the Church of Rome to be the inspired word of the living God.

Ten Great Religions eBook

The weaknesses of the best of men are such that a temptation is not rendered improbable, as to the success, by their graces.
