The Mauser HSc The HSc competed in the same space as the Walther PPK. The Germans produced vast quantities of indigenous handguns, but they had to reach out to their occupied territories to meet the ever-growing demand.

Star Firearms: Dating your Star Pistol with Proofmarks

High polish blue or satin-chrome finish.

Ruby pistol

A notable trait about the pistol was its magazine; the Ruby's magazine held nine rounds, slightly higher than most other pistols of its time. Llama XI Especial Manufactured from 1933 to 1954 and again in 1970 for a few years. The first three years of proofing 1927-29 were reportedly somewhat confused, so dates of manufacture may vary widely from the stamped date.

Ruby pistol

Every single piece of the pistol has a 3 digit number and the all match.

Llama firearms

An extractor-mounted , reversible magazine release and ambidextrous safety levers were also included. Star Dubbed a Starlite by importers, this Star 9mm was a more compact BKS style version of their 1911-style handguns.

Spanish Proofs

I believe that's what the text to the right of the British triad says in the photo above, hard though it is to make out.
