Bartow County Caves: History Underground In North Georgia

Climax Caverns in Decatur County is home to the rare Georgia blind salamander Haideotriton wallacei and the Dougherty Plain crayfish Cambarus cryptodytes, both of which lack skin pigment as the result of evolution in a lightless environment. These include various flatworms, isopods, amphipods, pseudoscorpions, crayfishes, spiders, millipeds, springtails, cave crickets, flies, beetles, fishes, and salamanders.
