Wheelchair Sports & Recreation

In its brief history, it has hosted many special or one-of-a-kind programs, providing an unparalleled view of entertainment or sporting events—as well as refreshments and a taste of the UIC campus.

Handbook of Sports Studies

Some may be reserved ahead of time, while others are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Sports and Recreation

Adventures include adaptive snow skiing, sailing, surfing, kayaking, deep sea fishing, whale watching and more. Art Abilities Ages 12+ — Art Abilities is a series of workshops that offers the opportunity to explore a variety of art media. Participation in physical activities is essential to prevent people with disabilities from surrendering themselves to confinement.

Adaptive Recreation

This resource manual represents the most comprehensive information available on adapted sport and recreation activities for people with disabilities. While many Paralympic Sport Clubs focus on grassroots programming, many also provide opportunities at the national and international levels.

Handbook of Sports Studies

These recreation programs utilize the natural world to create opportunities where people with disabilities can live life without limits. A set of rules have been produced with the input from coaches, referees and the Canadian Lacrosse Association which are to be used for all wheelchair lacrosse teams. This online version is an extensive list of excellent products and services available to people in the disabled community.
