Oregon Government Contract Assistance Program

The federal law defines a qualified nonprofit health insurance issuer as an organization meeting the following requirements: It must be organized as a nonprofit, member corporation under state law. The HPC concept does not sell itself; health plans have generally not promoted it, and agents have often opposed it.

Producer and Marketing Cooperatives

Cooperative Marketing — Limitations of Co-Operatives 1.

Meaning and Objectives of Co

The result is a growing phenomenon across the nation — the use of cooperative contracting. Part of this reform was the creation of NetCare, a low-cost mandate-free insurance option for insurers to offer to the individual and small-business markets and for those eligible for COBRA, mini-COBRA or conversion coverage. Buying groups are owned by a private party who intends to generate a profit by operating the group.

Oregon Public Purchasing Association

For Example, in milk production and distribution, NDDDB National Dairy Development Board operates at national level. Nominal members do not have the right to participate in decision making and share in the profits.
