St John Paul II on St John of the Cross: Anguish in the Contemporary World

The explicit Nazi policy is to destroy Polish people, all Polish culture, all that is Poland. The entire text of the encyclical is here, with all the notes. In bringing about the Redemption through suffering, Christ has also raised human suffering to the level of the Redemption.

Joey presents what has been his faithful experience. In a word, then, a Good Samaritan is one who brings help in suffering, whatever its nature may be.

Summary of Key Writings of Pope John Paul II

Corresponding to the moral evil of sin is punishment, which guarantees the moral order in the same transcendent sense in which this order is laid down by the will of the Creator and Supreme Lawgiver.

Salvifici Doloris (February 11, 1984)

The discovery of the salvific meaning of suffering in union with Christ transforms this depressing feeling. Precisely by means of his Cross he must strike at the roots of evil, planted in the history of man and in human souls.

St John Paul II on St John of the Cross: Anguish in the Contemporary World

On the Cross, Christ attained and fully accomplished his mission: by fulfilling the will of the Father, he at the same time fully realized himself. Is it because some do not understand suffering can be redemptive or good? At the same time, however, this Book shows with all firmness that the principles of this order cannot be applied in an exclusive and superficial way.

This suffering, together with the living word of his teaching, became a rich source for all those who shared in Jesus' sufferings among the first generation of his disciples and confessors and among those who have come after them down the centuries.

The Body Theologic: *Salvifici Doloris

Respect for Human Life Burdened by Suffering The natural moral law binds us in love, in a particular way, to those who have grown weak under the weight of advanced years, serious illness or special needs. This work, in the plan of eternal Love, has a redemptive character.

Suffering

It completes that suffering just as the Church completes the redemptive work of Christ. Yet a further confirmation was in the anxieties and privations of the hurried flight into Egypt, caused by the cruel decision of Herod.
