American Youth for Democracy

Millions of well-intentioned activists are working to get those Millennials voting this November. The government has become an ever-growing Leviathan, absorbing a larger and larger share of societal wealth, and eroding more and more individual rights. As autocrats leverage technology and employ arbitrary legal measures to shrink civic space, the United States should lead the world in adapting and bolstering support for civic activism.

American democracy could withstand a coup

OHCHR has actively supported transitional justice programmes in more than 20 countries around the world over the past 15 years. Trump has so far appointed more than 200 federal judges including two US supreme court justices — lifetime appointments every one. Democrats will ensure that our policies, and those of our partners and development institutions, work to increase economic opportunities, expand education, and improve health care for young people around the world.

American democracy could withstand a coup

Democrats believe that the United States should defend freedom of the press.

Defining socialism: What does it mean and how is it shaping 2020?

It is rarely an expression of wisdom, and usually an expression of our baser instincts.
