The Official Shrewsbury 24 Campaign

However, despite picketing having been carried out numerous building sites up and down the country, the massive police investigation ordered by the home secretary was focussed solely only on the McAlpine site in Shrewsbury on September 6, 1972. There was no Ford plant at Longbridge; but there was one at Halewood. All 24 had participated in picketing activities on September 6, 1972 at building sites in the Shrewsbury area.

The vote was won by 120-3 to release the documents. The failure to disclose has less to do with national security and much more to do with the potential for political embarrassment. We owe a great debt of thanks to them for the tireless work that they have carried out.

Shrewsbury pickets get their day in court after 50 years of injustice

Terry Renshaw and John McKinsie Jones joined Campaign Researcher and Secretary, Eileen Turnbull, Campaign Chairperson Harry Chadwick, and Mark Turnbull campaign member in Court 4 to watch proceedings. Striking building workers in September 1972. From the beginning of the campaign we had tried to involve all the convicted pickets but many did not want to make an application because of the demonization that they had experienced in 1973-74 which led to many of them being blacklisted.
