Tree

The different species of kangaroos live in different areas, so the types of plants they feed on varies.

Kangaroos Facts & Information

The joey survived, having been successfully reared by the surrogate mother rock-wallaby. In 2003, Lulu, an eastern grey which had been hand-reared, saved a farmer's life by alerting family members to his location when he was injured by a falling tree branch.

KangaROOS

Like cattle, they regurgitate their food, chewing it twice before it passes through their chambered stomach.

Kangaroo Predators

Depending on the species, their fur coat can be red, grey or light to dark brown. They live in social groups called mobs. Similar to , they may go for periods of time without drinking water due to their relative inactivity during the day when it is hotter.
