The Outcome of Midwife

The Establishment of Statutory Governing Body The commencement of training and the birth of a profession necessitated the formation of a statutory body for the control and monitoring of professional practice.

MIDIRS Midwifery Digest

Future experimental studies are recommended to focus on the assessment of such educational programs and the outcomes in delivery room. Interviews continued until data saturation was obtained.

Meet the childbirth experts behind The Face of Birth

In spite of the Ordinance, 'Wan Pos' were still practicing in remote villages and neglected slums.

MIDIRS Midwifery Digest

Looking back over the past 25 years of midwifery education enables us to learn from old ways of working and the related events that took place, to help plan for a future where the women is at the centre of personalised safe care.

Empowerment — a gift bestowed or withheld?

Few studies have examined the strategies adopted to improve communications between women and their health care providers.

Social Perspectives on Pregnancy and Childbirth for Midwives, Nurses and the Caring Professions : Julie Kent : 9780335199112

Some people will work better than others, in a given situation. The active involvement of the woman in identifying needs and selecting outcomes to achieve the desired outcomes of the plan of care and in evaluating the effectiveness of the care is another example of the bottom up approach to change Keyzer, 1985 ; Wright, 1986 ; Pearson, 1989.

Best Practice Guidelines for Transfer and Collaboration

Normative-re-educative involves participating, the change agent negotiates with the group in decision making when asked and delegating, self-directed change with minimal input from the change agent. Midwives, once again, reaffirm their role in the care of normal pregnant women and healthy mothers. Action learning: a practical guide.
