About Us

The prime minister still holds the office of First Lord by constitutional convention, the only exceptions being 1766—1768 and 1885—1886, 1887—1892, 1895—1902. I had no idea it was here until the gentleman you see strolling to the right of this drawing mentioned it to me. Peers, Politics and Power: House of Lords, 1603—1911.
