Their honor is immediately put to the test by the arrival of the Princess of France and her three lovely companions. That should hardly come as a surprise considering the title, but the title fails to adequately signal just how profoundly the thematic preoccupation with things related to love really penetrates throughout the entire play.

Love's Labour's Lost

A modern-language adaptation of the play, titled Groups of Ten or More People, was released online by -based company Littlebrain Theatre in July 2020. Only with the news of the Princess's father's death are time and reality reawakened.

Love's Labour's Lost

Sonnet writing was in fashion when this play was written, and a lighthearted satire on this fad was a sure-fire formula for a light evening's entertainment for the very learned Queen Elizabeth I and her court.
