Then draw the upper arms, lower arms, upper legs and lower legs separately. Among the specific toys are a jack-in-the-box, sculpted newspaper figures, glove puppets, dancing dolls, a single-fold Christmas figure, a Punch and Judy, and other attractive creations. The result is an exciting and appealing book offering hours of creative satisfaction for anyone who likes working with paper.

Make a 'Jumping Jack' Puppet

To begin, draw your puppet out on a piece of paper. Recycled newspapers, aluminum foil, giftwrap, cardboard, and other salvaged papers may be used in many of the projects. The result is an exciting and appealing book offering hours of creative satisfaction for anyone who likes working with paper.
