Third

After graduation, I chose a Masters in Advanced Aircraft Design Concepts, which I knew would be vital to a career as an aircraft design engineer. If you are already studying engineering, then it is likely that you would benefit from compounding your understanding of the core mathematical skills that are commonly used in engineering.

Engineering Technology (Level 5)

Year 2, 3, 4 and 5 focus on that discipline and offer students a number of specialist modules. Special mathematics examination preparation course the college of engineering and informatics at nui galway will hold its special entrance examination in mathematics on august 19th, 2009.

Training

Graduate employment opportunities for you will include positions as an Engineering Technician in the drafting, design, specification, supervision, construction and maintenance of Civil Engineering projects. I would have no hesitation in recommending this course to a young or mature student. I can now continue my B.
