

American glass, 1760-1930 - the Toledo Museum of Art

Hudson Hills Press in association with the Toledo Museum of Art - The Party

Description: -

- Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge (Tenn.)
 Wildlife refuges -- Tennessee
 Glass manufacture -- United States -- History
 Glassware -- Ohio -- Toledo -- Catalogs
 Glassware -- United States -- Catalogs
 Toledo Museum of Art -- Catalogs
 American glass, 1760-1930 - the Toledo Museum of Art
 -American glass, 1760-1930 - the Toledo Museum of Art

Notes: Includes bibliographical references and indexes.

This edition was published in 1994

Filesize: 38.35 MB

Tags: #Museum #Store #Featuring #Collector's #Corner

Glass Collection

It was of inverted cone form with eight heavy vertical ribs and applied neck ring. Its refusal there made me even more obstinate, and I took it to New York.

The Path to Paradise: Judith Schaechter's Stained

The first casting, which Littleton did extra cold-working on, was shown in the annual Exhibition for Michigan Artists at the , and was acquired by the in , where it remains as of 2017.

Celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the American Studio Glass Movement

Color was medium to deep cobalt blue, a beautiful example with bubbly glass and a wonderful exterior surface. This workshop had a larger and more diverse group of participants. Save is from Professor Youngs Matrix Series, a construction of intricate and technically complex works he created by flame working borosilicate glass rods into layers of glass webs.

Glass City River Wall

His desire to document the history of American glass from the 17th century onward was at the time remarkably forward-looking. The Toledo Museum of Art, Toledo Museum of Art Masterworks, Toledo, 2009, p. On the final day of the workshop, Harvey Leafgreen, a retired glassblower from the glass plant in Toledo, happened in to see the public display of the workshop products, and presented an unexpected two-hour demonstration of the craft.

Harvey Littleton

Two cut glass dishes , Irish. Littleton was not pleased by his son's decision. Each displays details of costume, hairstyle, pose, or props that convey personality and social class.

Glass Collection

Minneapolis Institute of Art, extended loan, 1975-2005. Brent Kee Young, glass artist and Cleveland Institute of Art professor emeritus, has been recognized by scores of museums, galleries, colleges and universities in the United States and Asia, which have displayed and acquired his work and invited him to speak, demonstrate and teach. Also in 2011, Professor Young was selected to receive a most prestigious Creative Workforce Fellowship, generously supported by the citizens of Cuyahoga County, Ohio where he lives and works.

Top Five Glass Museums in the United States

If you are interested, please contact us by a comment on the bottom of every screen and attach your e-mail. DECANTERS , AND OTHER GLASSWARE , CUT OR ORNAMENTED.

The Party

Long affiliated with Pop art, the exhibition shows the expansive depth of his full body of work. Includes updated pricing and detailed descriptions. Until the beginning of the 20th century, American-made glass was generally viewed as inferior to its European counterparts in both design and execution and only recently deemed worthy of serious study and collecting.

Related Books

- J.W. Goethe und Anna Amalia - eine verbotene Liebe
- Passion de la Cilicie - 1919-1922
- Pulsion de mort entre psychanalyse et philosophie
- Soviet society under perestroika
- Beginselen van beleidsontwikkeling