Acknowledgements I wish to thank Lola Cañamero for her help and edition of this chapter. On one level this was a simple case of creating a hierarchy based on job title of all the individuals in the team.

Emotion AI

They change in consonance with light, pain, focus, touch and of course feelings. Findings show that these two smile types often appear in different social contexts and correlate with different patterns of brain electrical activation Ekman et al. However, once we have accepted such an explanation of altruism, it is clear that there is no longer any obstacle in principle to explaining the evolution of expressive behaviour that allows an individual to obtain help from others.

Cartoon Strip Social Interactions

It also allowed us to determine the feasibility of placing PACEO within the target organization and identified that once additional utterances had been developed that a real trial could occur. There are generally excited to see what happens next. While there is considerable evidence that the vast majority of people produce very similar facial expressions when experiencing emotion, the same has not generally been found for body posture.
