A brief guide to Heraldry and the Conventions of a Coat of Arms

This generous endowment from the crown, the first since 1555, was applied towards the reparation and support of the College. The inquiry was called soon after a secret memorandum, written in 1927, was circulated by the , criticising the constitution and workings of the heralds. By 1842 the heralds were reconciled with their location and once again commissioned Abraham to build a new octagonal-shaped Record Room on the site of the old Sugar House.
