About the Estate

With the co-operative having fulfilled its objectives and been disbanded, the former shops have been let to differing tenants. Description: The American Historical Review AHR is the official publication of the American Historical Association AHA.

Ardington and East and West Lockinge

The house is famous for its Imperial Staircase which comprises two matching flights leading into one and is considered by experts to be one of the finest examples in Britain. Much of our office accommodation results from the sympathetic conversion of old Victorian farm buildings and provides office space full of light and character — thus differing from the standard business centre environment.

Ardington and East and West Lockinge

All Saints' Church at East Lockinge stands in a delightful rural location close to the lake. East Lockinge is by far the larger of the Lockinges. This book, published for the Museum of English Rural Life, University of Reading, is based partly on the records described below.

Ardington and the Lockinges

The village is also home to a conference centre, the Loyd Lindsay Rooms, and a nursery school. And so the philosophy of Lockinge Estate began and it continues to be maintained, developed and enhanced by the present owners.
