Maastricht 2020

In the picturesque Vrijthof, one of Maastricht's most attractive squares, surrounded by characteristic Dutch architecture, Museum aan het Vrijthof is one of the city's most important museums. This included how to determine if countries were ready to join the euro. Global Studies trains students to understand and develop solutions for complex global issues.

The programme covers international developments both in the European Union and in a wider, global context. Servaaskerk is the oldest church in the Netherlands. A biological section with collections of regional flora and a botanical garden on the banks of the River Jeker are also of interest.

Also of note is Onze-Lieve-Vrouwewal, a stretch of old wall offering fine views over the municipal park with its old cannons, as well as over the Maas. Enjoy one of the many different kinds of beers that are served in Maastricht or try a piece of, a fruit pie famous among the Dutch. Most of the top tourist attractions in Maastricht lie in the compact city center along both sides of the Maas river, and this is the best place to stay if you're visiting for the first time.

Another advantage of this central location is the direct access to neighbouring biotechnology activities in Belgium, Germany and France. Take One is a genuine beer lovers pub.
